

Golf in Australia is about to change forever

The only grass perfect for the strict environmental restrictions on the Rio Olympic Golf Course, and the grass of choice for Tiger Woods' latest courses including the Bluejack National, Sir Grange is now the most talked about grass in Australia's biggest golf course renovation projects.

Sir Grange (Zeon Zoysia in America) is a fine bladed premium zoysia matrella turf variety. It is a beautiful and soft grass that has a high shade tolerance and very low nutrient and water requirements.

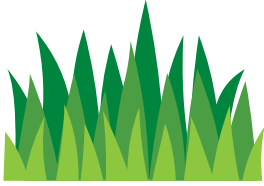

Sir Grange is loved by players for its tee like fairway lies, where the ball sits right on top just begging to be hit. This playability has made courses featuring Sir Grange magnets for members as players scores plummet post renovation. Sir Grange is the most playable fairway grass on the market.

Course owners and superintendents also love Sir Grange thanks to its amazing maintenance time and cost savings. Requiring 75% less nitrogen and up to 50% less mowing than other golf grasses, Sir Grange courses look phenomenal but require less man hours and smaller budgets to keep them that way.

"I think the golfers will be impressed by the playability of it, the superintendents will be grateful for the ease of maintenance, and the golf course owners will be impressed with the low cost to maintain it."
